

I am willing to pay the subscription fee to listen to XM Satellite Radio and its traffic and weather channels, just like I do with Satellite television. They both provide a great service. I get to listen to the music or information I want with clarity. I see nothing wrong with getting the weather and traffic for the three cities that I travel between, NY, Baltimore and Washington DC, in a timely manor. It has been a great service for me to know which routes I should not take. It beats having to wait until the 8 or 10 of the hour to hear the traffic, if they decide they will keep with that time schedule. Also trying to find a station that will do the traffic for a city a person is going to can be a real test of one self.

Thank you
